A Better World is Possible

Climate Change & the Green New Deal

Join us for Chuck's new talk. Hosted by Lincoln County Community Rights through their Community Rights Action series.

When: Thursday, November 21st, 6:30pm - 8:30pm

Where: 2314 N Coast Hwy 101, Newport, Atonement Lutheran Church.

- Lower level meeting room (accessible/no stairs) on the west side of Hwy 101. Attendees park in north end of parking lot, ground level entrance door to meeting room adjacent to that parking area.

What: Chuck Willer of the Coast Range Association presents on coastal prospects under the current climate emergency. Chuck will discuss the national Green New Deal and outline opportunities for Lincoln County.

Join the Coast Range Association and Lincoln County Community Rights for this new informative talk. Focusing on striking new information on the Climate Crisis and the need for a national Green New Deal (GND), attendees will hear information seldom presented in the media. This event is hosted by Lincoln County Community Rights through their Community Rights Action series.

CRA's Climate Change & Green New Deal work is supported by donors like you!

Thank you for supporting the Coast Range Association this year. By donating you allow us to continue our path-breaking work to help our communities and forests contribute to the best available solutions to the Climate Crisis.

Through building strong activist networks, amplifying voices through Coast Range Radio, and educating folks about the massive scale and short time frame we have to implement the only solution to Climate Change, a national Green New Deal, we are working to make a better world

Building on twenty-five years of work to understand the human dimensions of coastal ecosystems - ocean, forests and rivers - Chuck will discuss what a warming climate means for coastal communities. His discussion compare the economic mobilization of the GND to Oregon's proposed cap & trade legislation that failed to pass the last legislative session.

Chuck will explore the scale of the problem and outline the scale of the solution. While political leaders give the appearance of addressing the climate emergency, Greta Thunberg argues little to nothing is being done. What will a real climate solution look like for Lincoln County? And, when the political system finally addresses the emergency how might coastal Oregon prosper?

This is a scent free event and is free to the public. Donations gladly accepted! Refreshments served. All are welcome!

Gov. Brown: The Time is Now #StopJordanCove Rally

Oregon Climate Groups Demand Action

When: Thursday, November 21, 2019 - 11:00am - 1:00pm

Where: Oregon State Capitol 900 Court Street Northeast Salem, OR, 97301

Rally to tell Governor Brown: the time is NOW. (WEAR RED)

Governor Brown, communities across the Pacific Northwest are calling on you to join them by stopping the Jordan Cove LNG export terminal and fracked gas pipeline. For over a decade, this project has threatened private and public lands, tribal sites and cultural resources, public safety, and existing jobs in fishing, tourism, and more. Governor Brown cannot claim to be a climate champion while remaining silent on a proposed fracked gas export project that would become Oregon's single largest climate polluter.

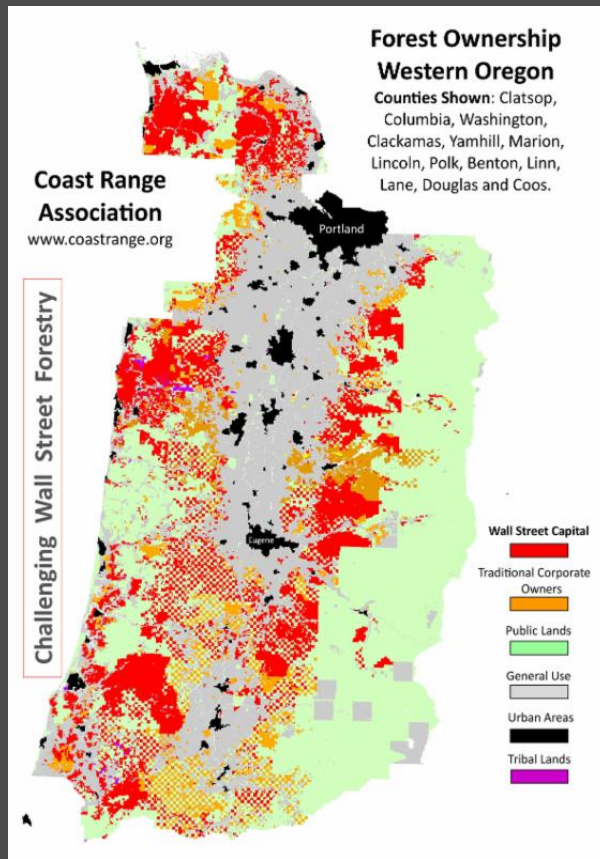

That's why our communities will join together at a rally at the state capitol during the legislative short session to tell Gov. Kate Brown that the time is now: deny all state permits, challenge the Federal Government's power grabs, and join us in protecting health, safety, and our climate from Jordan Cove LNG.

We will rally on the front steps of the State Capitol Building (900 Court St NE) in Salem, OR at 11:00am on Thursday, November 21st.

"A new mission must be argued for federal and state lands equal to a climate emergency. The legitimacy of Wall Street's control over vast tracts of Northwest private forestland must be called into question. Vulnerable people must be protected in the inevitable transition to come."
